A bat-eared fox wandered across a field, when a dark shadow appeared in front of him.

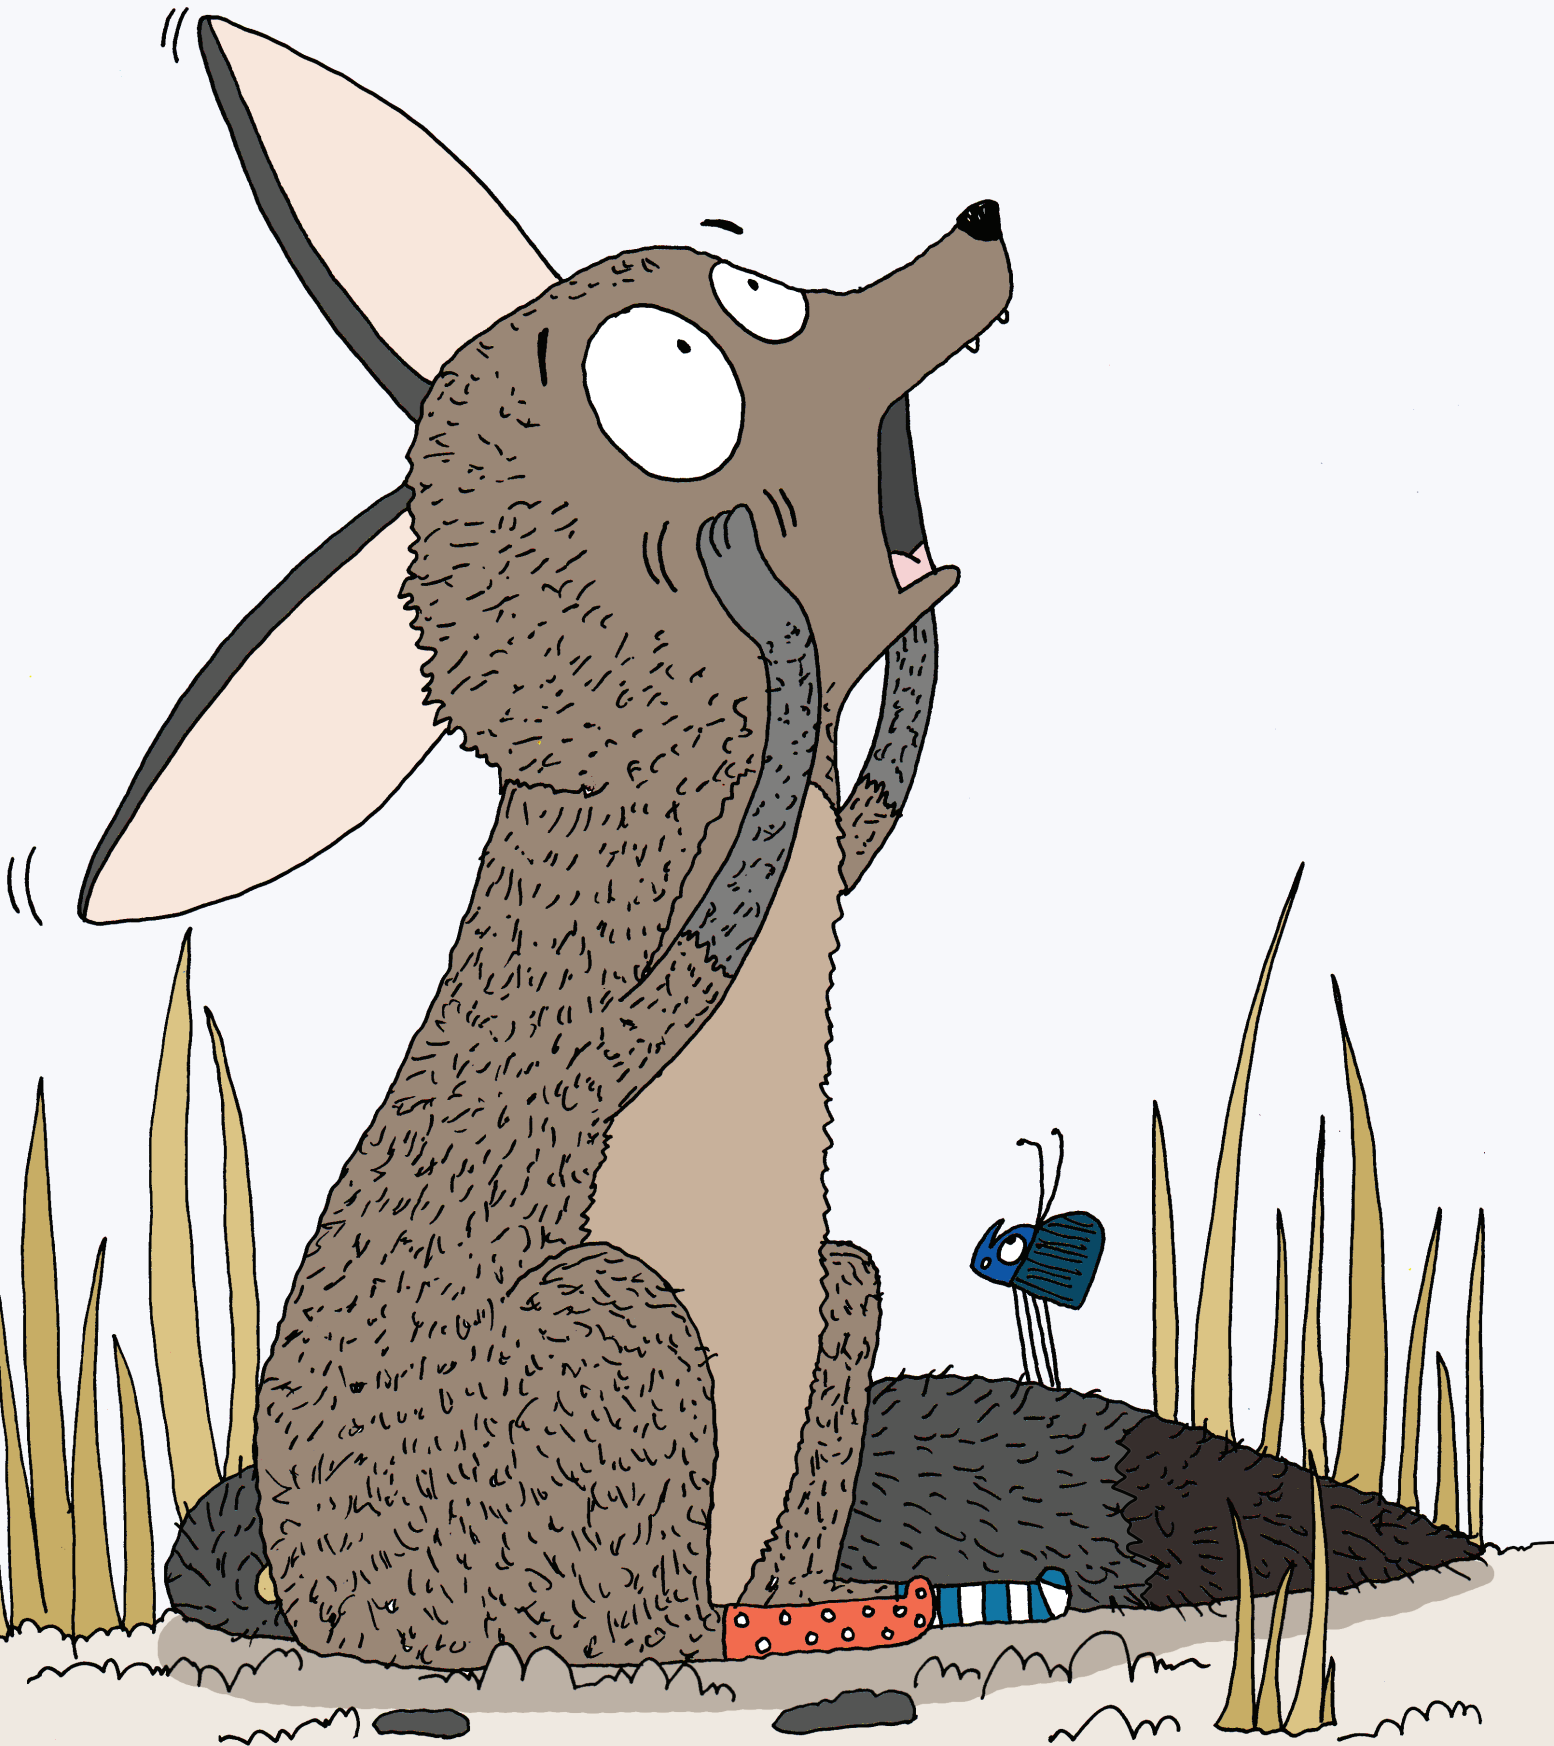

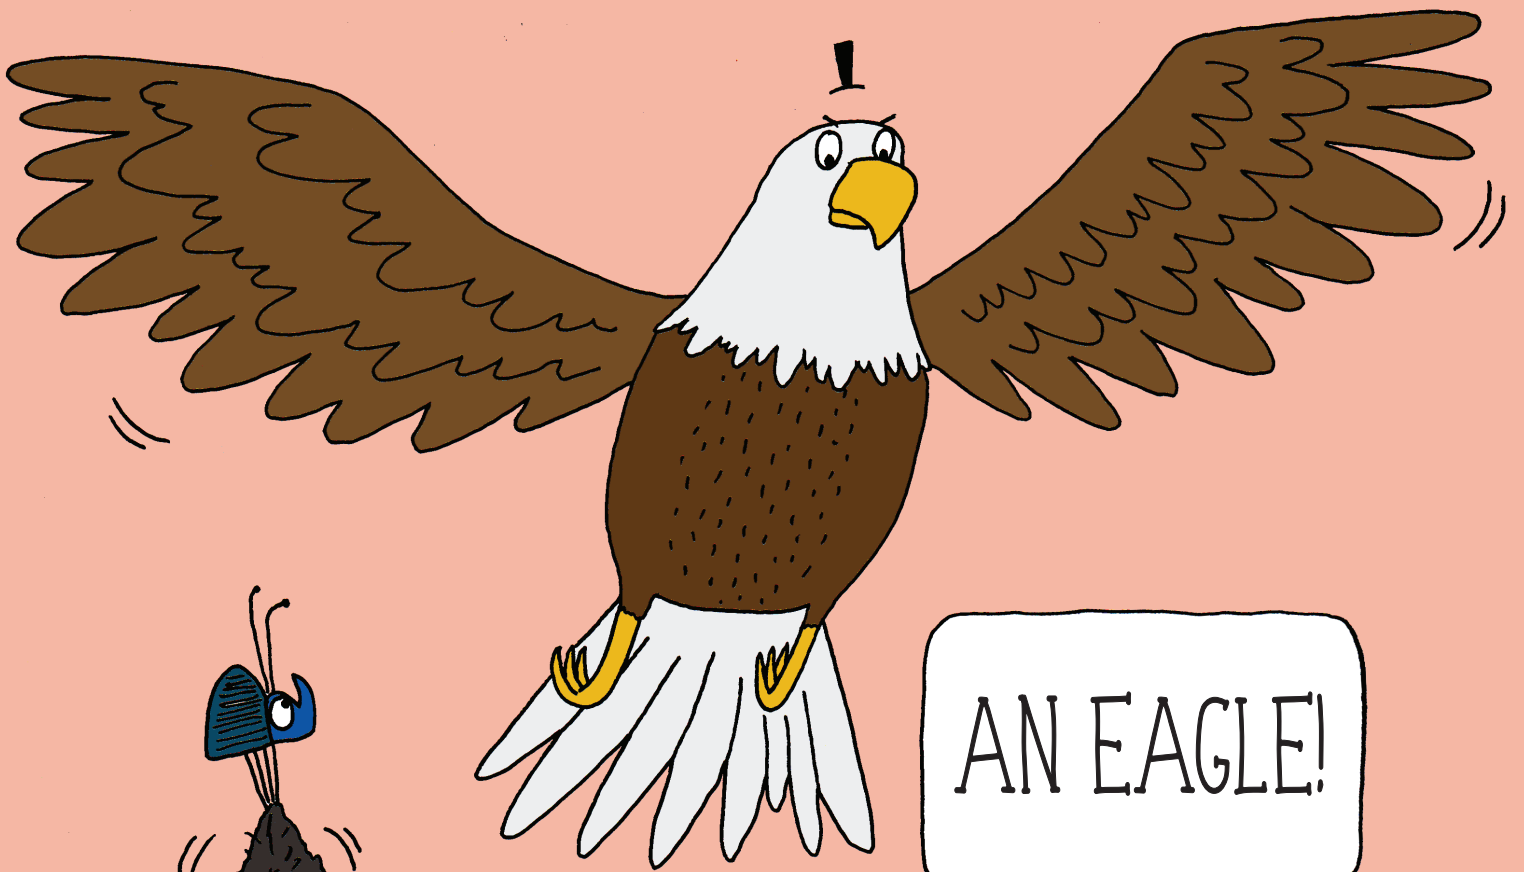

And then behind him.

And then right next to him.

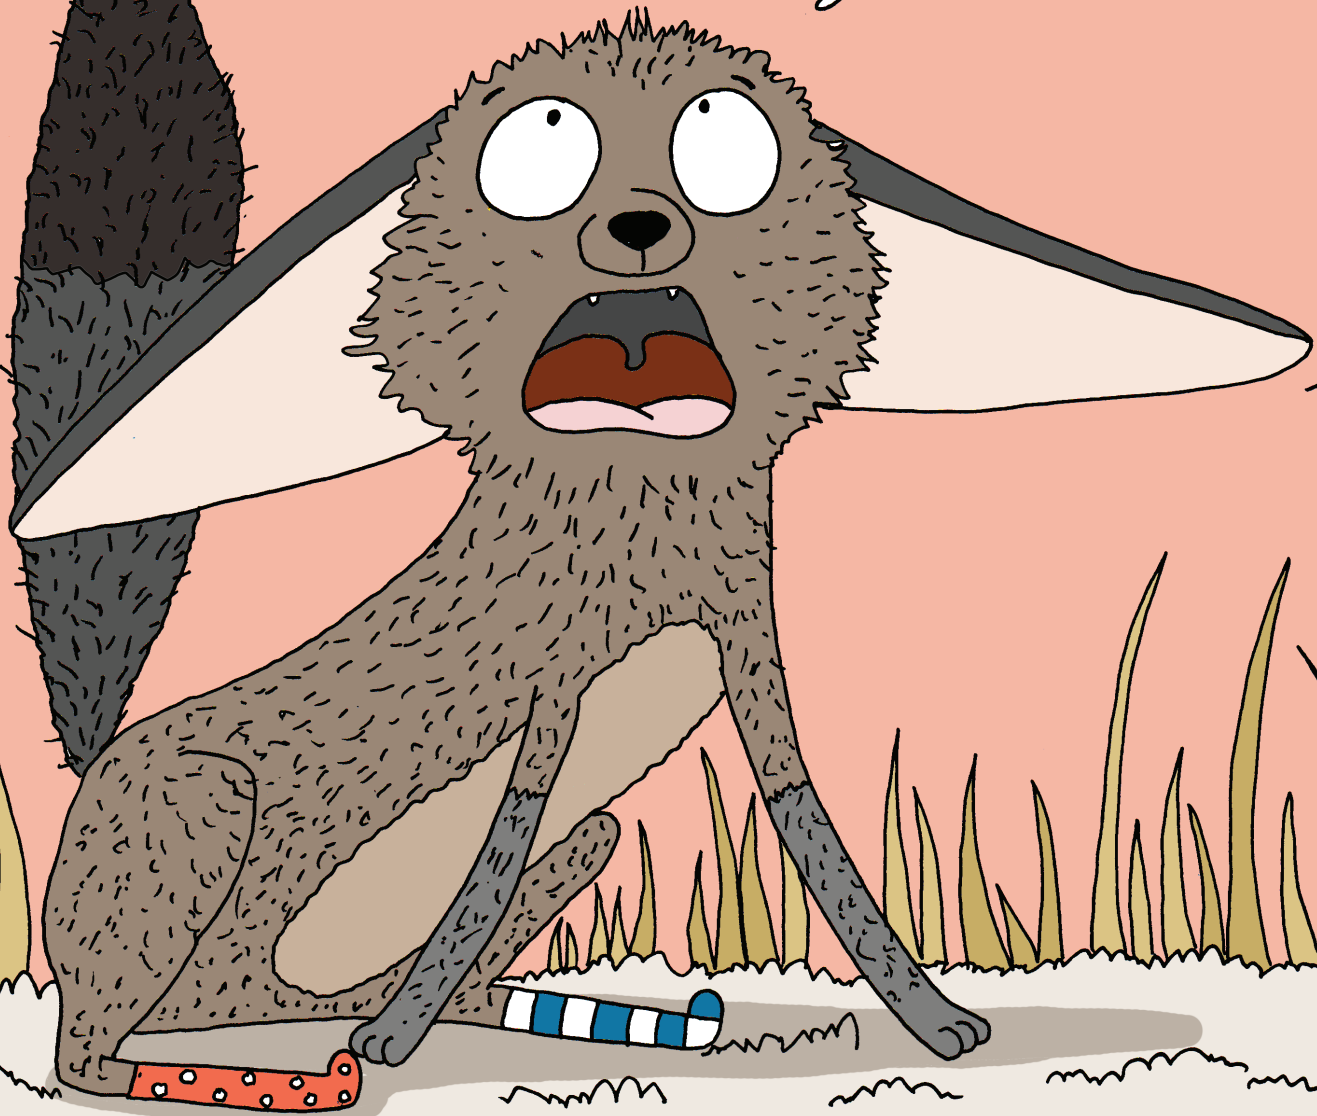

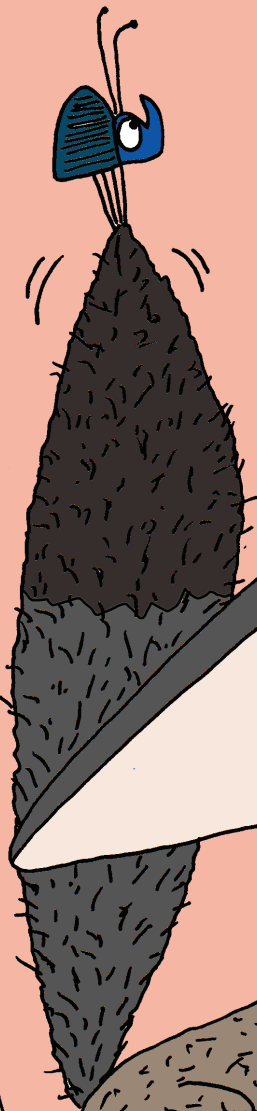

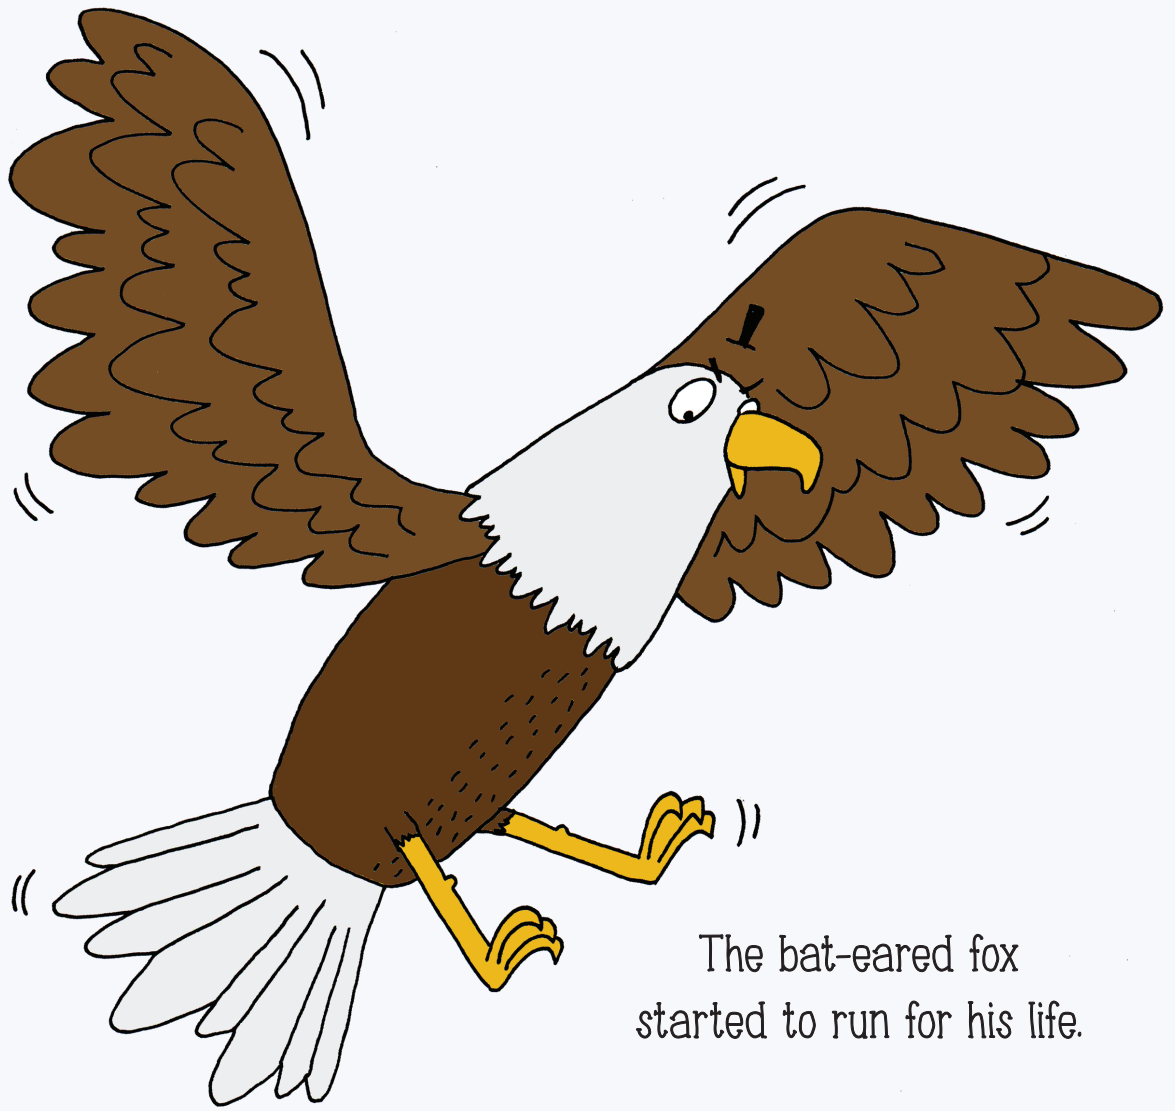

“Uh-oh,” he said.
“That looks an awful lot like ...”

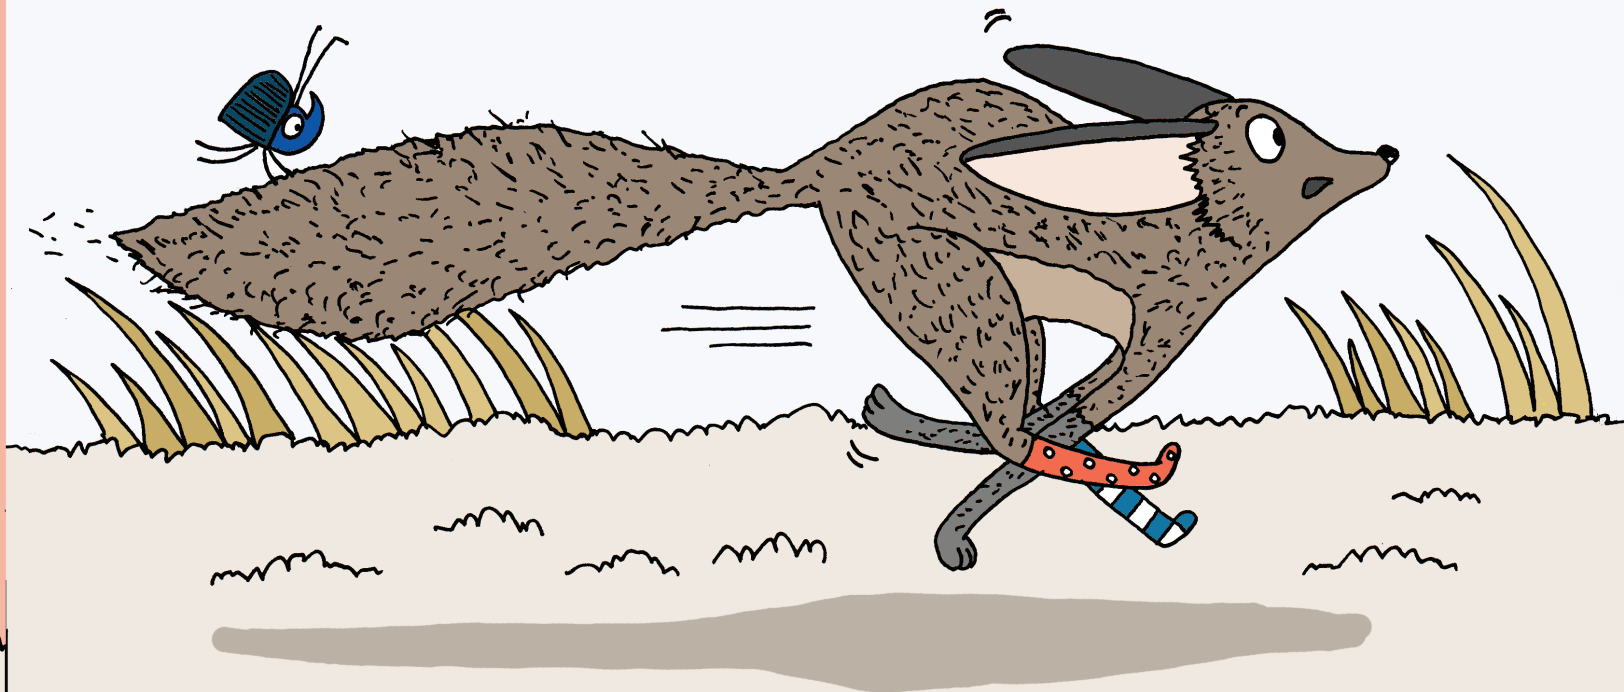

AN EAGLE!

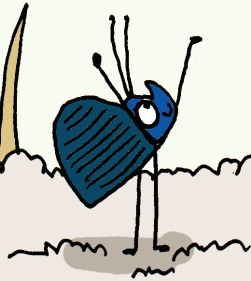

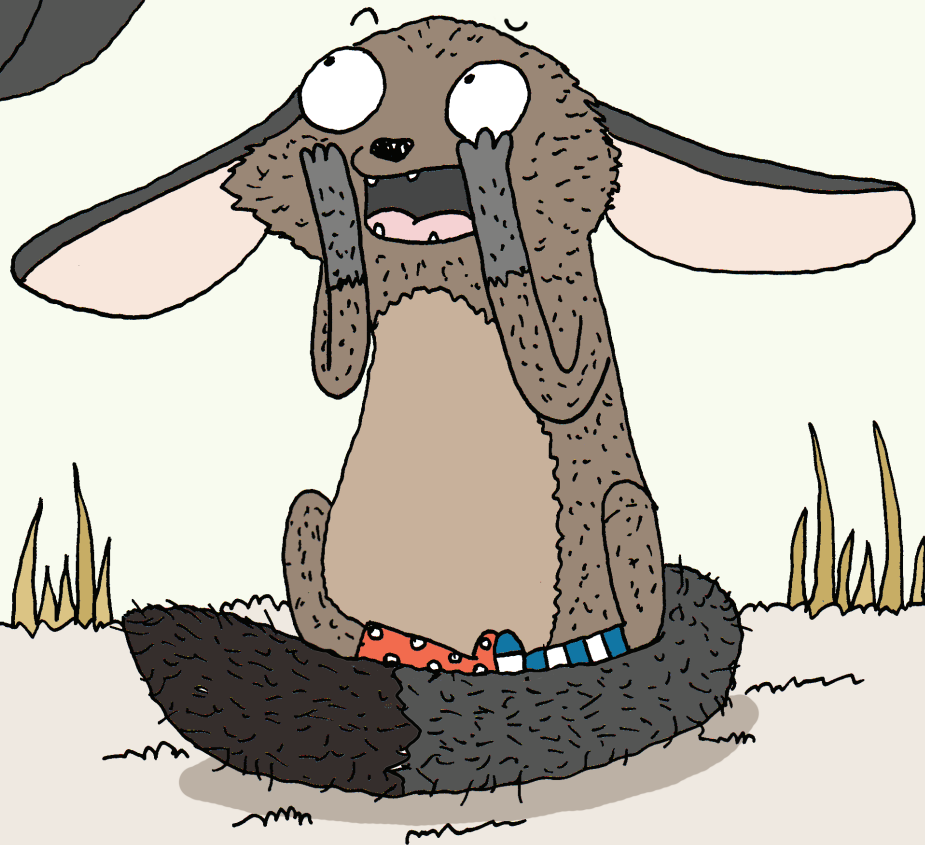

The bat-eared fox
started to run for his life.

But then a honey badger appeared out of nowhere.

In a whirlwind of feathers and fur,

the honey badger fought
off the bird.

“Wow!” exclaimed the bat-eared fox. “You are FIERCE!”

“If you say so,” shrugged the honey badger,
and headed towards a bush.

The bat-eared fox followed,
and was about to ask questions about all this fierceness when he heard some hissing.

“Uh-oh,” he said.

“That sounds an awful lot like ...”
